

Give Missourians a second chance.

Many types of non-violent criminal records are already eligible to be sealed under Missouri law, yet due to the expensive and time-consuming process, only 1% of eligible individuals obtain expungement. For many households, the stigma of a record needlessly creates ongoing obstacles to long-term employment, education, affordable housing, and family well-being. Automating the process would give Missourians the second chance they deserve, a benefit to the entire community.
